

Always stay on the boardwalk

I went walking with my girlfriend in a beautiful nature conservation area. The trail we followed was a nice boardwalk. We were talking about the senary when my girlfriend saw some clothes laying next to the boardwalk in the high grass. She laughed "Look those are latex clothes and nice boots with it, somebody is running naked around!". There was absolutely nobody else on the boardwalk. She smiled at me and said "Shall I put them on". Before I could answer she started to undress herself till she was naked and started to put the latex body on.

We were surprised how easily she slipped into the body. It fitted very nice and tight. She looked amazing in it. She joked that this was a gift from nature for people who wanted to become one with the forest. I helped her with the boots. The size was perfect. She was beautiful in her black outfit.

I touched her carefully starting at her boots and slowly going up feeling the latex. Very sensual and very sexy. "It is tickling a bit" she said. "But it feels fantastic". Our little session of exploring her attractive latex packed body was suddenly disturbed by noise coming out of the grass from a strange looking gray anomaly. Almost like a big fungus. "Oh !", she said "A seat for a latex angel!" Enthusiastic as she was she jumped of the boardwalk and went into the high grass. She pushed with her finger in it. "It vibrates ! and it is just like jelly" she jelled to me. "I heard here mumbling "Oh this could be fun" and before I new it she was sitting on top of it laughing to me. "Look me sitting on the jelly". Then for a moment she herself looked jellied.

Her body froze and a membrane started to partially wrap her upper body including her head. At the same moment air with a lot of noise was blown into the membrane and she started laughing again having a good time. "Oops" she shouted "there is something penetrating my little pussy. "Ooh, that's feeling good". At this moment I saw a men running towards me on the boardwalk starting to shout something. When he came closer I could see that it was the park ranger "Don't leave the boardwalk !" he was shouting, "wait for me".

The ranger came standing next to me out of breath and asked "Didn't you see the sign saying to stay at the track!". We both looked at my girlfriend which was really enjoying her self at the moment. "To be honest I didn't see one" I answered, still looking at my girlfriend which started to scream of pleasure. He continued "This is already the third women this week and who is going to save them every time, tourist ! It's blossoming time at this moment for this fungus". I was amazed but he continued, "I can free her but the latex will be attached to her body forever. The boots you can take of but she has now a second skin. Hopefully you both like that". Then looking away and with lowered voice, "Anyway, my wife has also one". He jumped of the boardwalk and pulled my girlfriend of the fungus. "Enough fun for today" he said, pulling the membrane away of her body. "Ah" she said "A few minutes more". "Be glad that it hasn't penetrate your throat already, then it would be much more difficult to get you of".

When they both stepped on the boardwalk again I was glad I could take her in my arms.

We walked all together back to the car. Amazed about her new skin. When I gave the ranger a hand to thank him for his help I noticed underneath his shirt latex, skintight and not removable anymore.

Drawing: ROB

Model photography: Catsuitmodel.de

Model: Death by chocolate

Story, CS5 and landscape: Latex Circle

